

SS 113 Caribbean History Course Learning Objectives

CLO 1: Understand the main political, social and economic trends that influenced Caribbean History.

CLO 2: Analyze the political, economic, and sociological development of the Caribbean from prehistoric times to the present.

CLO 3: Critically evaluate the impact of revolutionary movements, neocolonialism, racism, and the role of American intervention on the region's economic and social structure.

CLO 4: Identify key figures leaders and revolutionaries in Caribbean History who affected social and economic change.

PREREQUISITE or COREQUISITE

ENG 101 This course provides an introduction to the political, economic, and sociological history of the Caribbean region from prehistoric times to present. Topics discussed in depth include revolutionary and urban guerrilla movements, the forces of neocolonialism and racism, and the American role as an agent of economic disintegration in the Caribbean.