

SS 202 Abnormal Psychology Course Learning Objectives

CLO 1: Define the criteria and treatments for major psychological disorders.

CLO 2: Identify social and cultural factors that influence perceived “normal” versus “maladaptive” functioning.

CLO 3: Explain the assessment and diagnostic tool used to discern different types of mental health crisis and disorders.

CLO 4: Recognize the unique challenges faced by individuals with various mental health issues, including the sociological, economic, and cultural implications.

PREREQUISITE or COREQUISITE

ENG 101 and SSI 122 Abnormal Psychology is a study of a wide range of psychological disorders. Topics include significant research and theories relating to psychological disorders, with an emphasis on the development of symptoms and on a variety of psychotherapeutic treatment modalities.